TAX LEGISLATION PUT ASIDE

—U. S. Retaliation— Hungary Diplomat Expelled

America Acts After Two U. S. Officials Ousted By Budapest

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States today retaliated against Hungary for expulsion of two American officials from Budapest by ordering a top Hungarian diplomat out of this country.

The diplomat ordered to leave "as soon as possible" is John G. Florian, first secretary of the legation here.

The state department notified Minister Andrew Sik yesterday that Florian is no longer "persona grata," or acceptable, as a representative of his government.

The notification gave no reason for the demand that Florian leave. State department Press Officer Michael J. McDermott told reporters it was "pure coincidence" that Florian's expulsion followed the ejection of the American officials from Budapest in the last two weeks.

Accepted as Tit for Tat.

Diplomats, however, accepted the move as being, at least in effect, tit for tat.

The state department in announcing this action also denounced the filing of spying charges by communist Bulgaria against 15 leaders of the United Evangelical church in Bulgaria.

The department in a formal statement said:

"The similarity between the fantastic accusations made against Protestant religious leaders in Bulgaria and those against Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary, who has been so recently condemned, strikingly emphasized the concerted nature of the continuing communist assault on religious liberties in both countries."

The Americans ordered out of Hungary were Robin E. Steuer, second secretary of the U.S. embassy, who was given a week on 24 hours notice, and Stephen Kocak, second secretary who was expelled less than two weeks earlier.

GLASSFORD:

NU Coaching Job Requires Co-operation

New Mentor Addresses Faculty And N Club

By NORRIS ANDERSON.

(Sports Editor, The Star)
J. William (Bill) Glassford, new

University of Nebraska football coach, made his first public appearance in Lincoln Friday noon at the Student Union.

"I'm a fellow who has taken on a lot of obligations," the 34-year-old coach told a luncheon gathering sponsored by the N club and the university department of inter-collegiate athletics.

"Through your co-operation, I think that we will fulfill our obligations next fall," he continued.

Well-poised and direct, Glassford told the assemblage of 250 that he had come to stay a "long time."

It is a privilege to be a member of the Nebraska faculty and a privilege to be a citizen of your state. I learned to respect Nebraska like no other university when I was playing for Jock Sutherland at Pittsburgh."

"I am now in the process of lining up assistants. I want men whom you and I can have confidence in. And I want your confidence in me."

I like you and your state, he concluded, "and I sincerely hope you like me."

Ses Husker Football Boost.

Glassford was introduced by Fred Metheny, N club member and the student representative on the athletic board.

Metheny listed three factors that should boost Nebraska football: (1) A squad that has outstanding spirit. (2) Enthusiastic support by the student body and fans. (3) Leadership by an outstanding coach like Glassford.

"Coach Glassford is an opportunist or he would not have recognized the possibilities at Nebraska," said Metheny.

"He is a salesman or he would not have sold his abilities to such nationally-known coaches as Howie Odell and the late Jock Sutherland. He is well qualified to teach the fundamentals of the game through playing under Sutherland, one of the great fundamentalists of college coaching."

Metheny was introduced by Athletic Director George (Potsy) Clark.

Dean Carl W. Borgmann of the faculty, introduced Robert W. Devoe, board of regents member from Lincoln, and Dave Noble, athletic board member from Omaha.

The meeting, which lasted only 50 minutes, was attended by sorority and fraternity and campus organization presidents, Mortar Boards and Innocent societies, freshman and varsity football squads, N club members, press and radio, board of regents, athletic board and faculty representatives.

Trolley, Bus Men On Strike

4-Inch Snow Adds To Problem Of 3 Million Riders

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Some 3,000,000 daily riders were left without trolley, bus and subway service today by a strike of 11,000 Philadelphia Transportation Company workers.

Maintenance and operating employees—members of Local 234 of the CIO Transport Workers union—walked out at 12:01 a.m., after eleven-hour negotiations failed to settle a wage dispute.

Shortly after pickets took up their posts at company depots, company and union representatives met in a hotel in the center of Philadelphia.

State Senator Ray Babcock, Sidewalk, was re-elected Friday as president of the Nebraska Reclamation association.

The election of Babcock, a strong supporter for expanding public power facilities, flood control and irrigation in the Missouri valley basin, came at the association's board of directors meeting Friday noon. It will be the Sidewalk senator's second one year term.

R. E. Campbell, Lincoln businessman, was elected as new vice-president. He replaces Ernest H. Staubitz, of Kearney.

Curtis Praises Program.

Marcella Allen, secretary-treasurer of the organization, was re-elected by the board which delayed until its March meeting the election of two additional members to serve on the executive committee with the three officials.

Rep. Carl T. Curtis, of the first congressional district, who made a surprise appearance on the program, praised the water conservation program in Nebraska.

"The state will continue to set an example to the entire nation in the best management and the maximum benefits in public power," Congressman Curtis declared.

Referring to the need for added recreational areas in Nebraska, Curtis said that he would "give emphasis to the recreational aspects of this program."

"I would like to see a great tree-planting program undertaken on the land adjacent to every lake or reservoir," Curtis said.

He pointed out that already Nebraska through studies conducted by the university knows more about its under the ground water supply than any other state in the U. S. He explained that the university's role in an over-all reclamation program covered a wide range from research work with soils to studies of breeding of grasses grown in this area.

Dr. W. V. Lambert, dean of college of agriculture, University of Nebraska, reported that the university in its reclamation studies must work "to keep farmers efficient at its highest point."

"He is a salesmen or he would not have sold his abilities to such nationally-known coaches as Howie Odell and the late Jock Sutherland. He is well qualified to teach the fundamentals of the game through playing under Sutherland, one of the great fundamentalists of college coaching."

"Winston Churchill has always manifested a bland disregard for railway schedules; and his habit of catching a train by the skin of his teeth has always been an anxiety to his traveling companions. A friend once chided the statesman for this little weakness."

"Winston is such a sportsman," explained Mrs. Churchill, "he always gives the train a chance to get away."

Study Platte Plan Closely, Batson Says

NRA Told Price Is High, But Plan Sound

Nebrascans were cautioned Friday to look over carefully the Reclamation Bureau's plan for development of the lower Platte valley because the "price is high."

Laying the bureau's cards on the table was Avery A. Batson, a former Nebraskan, who is now regional director of the bureau at Denver. He addressed the final session of the fifth annual meeting of the Nebraska Reclamation association at the Cornhusker.

"The Reclamation Bureau plan for development of the lower Platte valley is no 'gift horse,'" Batson declared.

Diversion Necessary.

The regional director hammered home this important point:

"No plan can effectively use the water supply without diversion. Without exporting surplus, the efficiency of the plan would be cut in half. Twice as much water could flow out of the state unused in one case than in the other," he stated.

Batson, who in 1934 was the state director of engineering for construction of federal works projects in the state, said "if the plan is not approved the date will be laid on the shelf to be used at some indefinite time in the future when the people of the state come to recognize the values that can be derived."

"I am convinced the horse is sound in wind and limb," Batson declared as he threw his weight behind the development plan. "We await your opinion," Batson challenged.

The regional director told the reclamation group that, next to an agreement that it is a good general plan, they "should consider the clarification of the state water policies by law."

Procedure Reversed.

Additionally, he said, the process involves negotiations of adjustments with the vested interests of the state legislature. Overall control will be maintained by the budget committee through study of requested budgets.

First expression of legislative opinion came on the motion of Sen. George Weborg to indefinitely postpone LB 152 by Victor Anderson which would give the state auditor authority to fix salaries of accountants employed in his office. Present limitation is $2,400 a year to date than the day of arrival.

The train transporting the Nebraska car from Chicago will also deliver Colorado's car. Brief ceremonies of acceptance have been planned for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Burlington depot, at which time a representative of Gov. Peterson will accept the gift, and the representative of the French people, Laurence Artigue, assistant division supervisor of the French National Railways, traveling with the train, will present it. He will leave for Denver Sunday evening with the Colorado car.

The motion was immediately put on a policy basis rather than being considered an action affecting one office. Sen. John Callan, chairman, and the budget committee have consistently sought to have state auditors based on the merits of the employment of the technical requirements of the position rather than salaries fixed by statute.

Cheapness Expedited.

"Any man with business experience knows that a cheap employee can often be the most expensive," Sen. Callan said. "Without the limitations we now impose it is probable that efficient employees can be paid what they are worth and inefficient employees dismissed. Under our present system of pay scales, it is difficult to find the right person for the right job."

Survivors include his widow and two daughters, Mrs. John Eberle-Sinatra of Seward, and Mrs. H. H. Ulrich of Omaha. Funeral services are pending.

Lincoln Newspapers Will Print '49 Blizzard Edition

Nebrascans will not soon forget the great blizzards of 1949. The stark memories of death and destruction, of suffering and privation and of heroism and courage—even the grim humor that often manifested itself—these memories will retain their freshness.

As a souvenir of the unprecedented storms, the Lincoln Newspapers are preparing a special Blizzard Edition of 1949, to tell the complete story, principally in pictures.

Several weeks of winter remain. Forecasters have warned that more severe weather is likely. For that reason the Lincoln Newspapers are delaying publication of this special souvenir edition until sometime in April when the whole saga of the element's most damaging assault upon Nebraska can be told.

This special edition will be devoted exclusively to recounting the fabulous story of the blizzard and near-miraculous campaigns of Operation Snowbound and Operation Haylift.

It will be tabloid in size; the same dimension as the monthly farm supplement of this newspaper.

The Lincoln Newspapers are confident most readers will want not just one but several copies, so the price has been fixed at 25 cents a copy or five copies for $1.

Truman Request For Quick Action Given Cool Reception

Social Security Gets First Consideration

House Committee Hearings Will Begin Feb. 28

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The house ways and means committee today put tax legislation aside at least temporarily, in the face of the new tax-raise plea from President Truman.

The committee voted to give first consideration to the president's proposals for a vast expansion of the social security program. Hearings were ordered beginning Feb. 28.

This might mean that no tax bill will be considered until May. A committee spokesman explained, however, that today's action does not mean the committee cannot take up a tax bill any time it pleases.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the ways and means committee already had forecast that the security program would come first. In general, the capitol reception given Mr. Truman's call for quick action on a $4,000,000,000 tax boost was chilly.

Wants Spending Data First.

It apparently is generally agreed that a $4,000,000,000 tax increase would be defeated quickly if brought to a vote at this time.

But if appropriations for the next fiscal year exceed anticipated revenue under present tax statutes a tax increase would have a much better chance. Some committee members are more opposed to the treasury operating in the red than they are to a tax increase.

Doughton, for instance, has taken the stand that tax legislation should wait until there are figures on government spending.

The ways and means committee decided to take up first the administration's proposals for increased social security assistance to the needy aged, the blind and dependent children.

Direct Grants to States.

Under this program the federal government makes grants to states for payment to those in need.

Next, the committee will consider Mr. Truman's bill to increase the $30,000,000 now provided by old age and survivors insurance and to expand the benefits under this insurance program. Participants and their employers may share payroll taxes to support the program.

The president's proposal for health insurance in which employed persons would make another $200 billion is expected to be taken up by the house committee on interstate commerce.

Army Bucks New Drifts In Wyoming

Dust Storms Hit Near Scottsbluff

(By the Associated Press)
Operation snowbound continued to fight a nip-and-tuck battle with ground blizzards in Wyoming Friday.

The Fifth army's blizzard relief corps, although it generally gained ground in the disaster areas of Nebraska, Wyoming, and South Dakota, found itself ousted 10 to one in the Lusk area yesterday, Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick said.

Twenty-five miles of roads were opened while snow whipped up by strong winds reclosed 250 miles of road around Lusk, the operation snowbound commander reported.

Reports of a new cold front moving in on Nebraska and South Dakota darkened the outlook today. Strong winds are expected and some new snow is possible, Gen. Pick was advised.

Dirt Drifts.

Near Scottsbluff in western Nebraska, dust storms entered the picture. The wind which had been swept clean of snow. The blowing dust piled up in drifts a foot and half deep.

Gen. Pick recommended to Gov. Val Peterson today that the Fifth army's relief effort be discontinued in a disaster sub-area with headquarters at McCook. If the governor and federal works administration Representative C. W. Anderson at Lincoln concur, the area probably will be considered closed as of midnight tonight, the general said.

The area includes Chase, Hayes, Frontier, Goshen, Phelps, Dundy, Hitchcock, Red Willow, Furnas and Harlan counties.

The termination of operation snowbound probably will come about through the one-by-one "lapping off" of disaster sub-areas, the general said.

2.944 Miles Opened.

The best 24 hour progress report came from Nebraska, where operation snow bound opened 2.944 miles of road yesterday while 452 miles were being reblocked by blowing snow. During the day, 4,334 Nebraskans were liberated from snowbound farms and communities and access to feed was given to 80,481 cattle and 19,194 other farm animals.

Ground was lost in both Wyoming and South Dakota.

Most of Nebraska's trouble yesterday came in sub-area one, which embraces Neligh and Albion areas. An estimated 250 miles of road were closed by blowing snow in the sub-area.

In Antelope county, 44 miles were opened while 74 were closed.

In Boone county 20 miles were opened and 75 were closed.

In Platte county, 18 miles were opened and 25 were closed.

In nearly two weeks, operation snowbound has opened 38,095 miles of road, liberated 75,361 persons, evacuated 44,000 persons, given 2,109,016 car and other farm animals access to feed.

The number of persons enrolled in the Fifth army's relief corps totalled 5,800. Of these 3,975 were personnel enroled by private contractors under Fifth army direction.

In the tri-state area yesterday, operation snowbound transported 177 tons of hay, 4,170 pounds of feed, 38 tons of coal and 105 gallons of fuel oil to meet emergency needs. Red Cross direction. Much of the hay went into Neligh, O'Neill and Broken Bow, Neb.

Reclamation Meeting

with the conditions the plan will involve.

Barton explained that normal procedure had been reversed in making the preliminary draft of the plan available to the governor for study and for public hearings. Ordinarily the bureau completes its study of a plan of this kind before it is submitted to governors or to other federal agencies for study.

This reversal of procedure was approved "because of the highly controversial problems of the lower Platte," he said.

"The pattern that patterns are the considerations of prime importance at this time x x x if there is no agreement in principle there can be no agreement in application."

Barton outlined the principles on which the bureau based its study including:

Flexibility to accommodate expanded soil and water conservation, local flood control measures and changing economic situations.

Development by any agency properly equipped of parts of the plan so long as the plan is not inconsistent with the whole plan were adequately recognized.

Making the supply of water available as far west as possible.

Use of water as close to the source as possible.

General allowance for the needs of agriculture and prospective users in areas before its water is exported.

Adequate allowance for all economic uses before determining a surplus.

Recognition of the principle that surface and ground waters have a common origin—precipitation.

Recognition of water use in the area: Domestic, agricultural and industrial.

Recognition of existing interests and rights under provisions of state law.

The bureau also said the bureau's study of the plan should be ready for study by 1953.

Barton pointed out that some 900,000 acre-feet of water flows unused each year into the Missouri river at Niobrara, Neb.

Up To People.

In conclusion, Barton declared: "Whether congress approves or lays the report on the shelf will depend in a large measure on the testimony of the people of Nebraska."

If they want no part of the plan, there is little question of its destiny.

If they like the general plan, and desire the help of their federal government in its accomplishment, the congress may approve the plan as a modification of the Missouri basin plan and authorize the appropriation of funds for construction and for continued investigation."

Studying Key Features.

Barton pointed out that to reduce to an absolute minimum the time that would elapse from approval, if given, and actual construction, a crew is now busily engaged in detail studies for the key features of the plan.

These, he said, consist of Mulden, Davis Creek, Rockville, and Amherst reservoirs.

HER SECRET STAR

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 28

David Warren sat in the living room with his shoes off, letting his hair down for the first time in years. His face was a picture of dejection, for he was alone now and could let himself go. Minniebelle and Betty were upstairs getting dressed to meet the ladies who would soon be coming to inform him that he was about to accept the nomination for mayor. At Minniebelle's insistence, he had put on a booted shirt for the occasion and the collar was too tight.

Everything, in fact, was wrong—just everything. He couldn't even run away from it all, what with his foot in a cast and pain him like the very devil itself. And he couldn't remember a word of the beautiful speech of acceptance which Minniebelle had written and made him memorize.

We would do well to stand up with the aid of a walking stick to greet the committee women when they arrived. Minniebelle would be terribly disappointed in him.

Well, he was disappointed in himself, for that matter. He would have to fall, cut a gash in his knee, and break a bone in his foot at a time like this, when his days in the post office were numbered. He could not be postmaster and mayor too—not in this town.

Up until two weeks ago, when the accident occurred, he hadn't missed a single day in the post office for fifteen whole years.

He glanced down at the injured foot which was stretched out on a hassock in front of him. Minniebelle had put a clean white bandage over the cast.

The least he could do for her was to accept the nomination for mayor. Accepting the nomination, of course, was equivalent to becoming, in this town. Everything would be in the bag, so to speak. He wished it were a mailbag.

Meanwhile Minniebelle sat rigidly erect in front of her dressing table, dusting her face lightly with prepared chalk. She did not look happy. Presently she got up and went into Betty's room.

Betty was sitting by a window reading a magazine, looked up and smiled, but there was no answering smile from her aunt.

"I see you're ready, dear," said Aunt Minniebelle. "You look very sweet in that brown dress. We might as well go down and sit with your uncle while we wait. I don't like to leave him alone too much—poor dear. Besides, the committee ladies will be coming very soon now and I'm sure he'll want to re-hear his speech of acceptance once more."

Betty started to get up, but when she saw that her aunt had seated herself on the bed, she sat down again. Evidently Aunt Minniebelle had something on her mind and wanted to talk. Aunt Minniebelle did. She hesitated a minute; then she said in a voice that was notable for its lack of poise:

"I don't know what's come over your uncle, Bettina. He's changed a lot lately. It's—er—sort of embarrassing. All of a sudden he wants to be a—er—big shot, as you young people say."

Betty could not keep from smiling, but she said seriously enough, "I thought it was you that wanted him to be a big shot. You were the one that wanted him to be mayor. Even when I first came here you were suggesting it. Remember?"

Minniebelle did not deny it. "Yes," she said, "I remember it very well. But things were different then. I wanted it for—for Gertrude's sake."

"And you don't want it now?" Betty was sure she knew the answer to her question, but somehow she wanted to hear Aunt Minniebelle say it, if only as confirmation.

"No. I don't want it now. David's tired. He's worked very hard all his life. He's been a good postmaster. I'd like for him to keep on as long as he wants to. And then—"

"And then?" Betty prompted when her aunt paused.

UNION COLLEGE NURSING SCHOOL HOLDS MEETING

School of nursing faculty members and nursing students at Union college held their annual banquet Wednesday night in the college's dining room.

Director of the nursing school, Miss H. Ruth Bunston was master of ceremonies and introduced the main speaker, A. J. Wearner, department head of religion. Mr. Wearner, who is a registered nurse, spoke to the group on the importance of missionary nursing.

Other speakers included Dr. Ambrose L. Suhrie, former president of New York university and now affiliated with Southern Missionary college in Tennessee; Miss Blanche Graves, director of the Nebraska bureau of registration and education of nurses, and Dr. E. B. Ogden, Union college dean.

"And they won't come in until the entire group arrives. I heard only one car so they'll wait for the others. We'll have a few minutes with David. Maybe we can help him rehearse his speech. It's quite short. I wrote it that way on purpose. He did very well with it last night, though he didn't put quite enough expression into it."

David, in the living room, wiped the frown off his face and managed to achieve something resembling a broad smile. He had heard the car on the driveway and now his womanfolk were coming downstairs.

In a little while, he reflected, it would all be over and he would have committed himself to a job he would hate. He would even hate himself, but that didn't matter too much. The important thing was to please Minniebelle.

Capitol Repair 'Serious Problem'

Sen. John Callan, chairman of the budget committee of the legislature, said after an inspection of the capitol building Wednesday that repairs and maintenance will be one of the serious problems the committee must face.

A committee of professors of architecture and engineering at the state university may be called in to make a survey and give recommendations on the best method of rehabilitating the building. Senator Callan said.

The Odell senator said that many structural weaknesses have developed and that in his opinion expert advice should be obtained before appropriating money to make building repairs. Minor repairs and a start on refurbishing the interior he said could be worked out with the aid of the building.

Meanwhile Minniebelle sat rigidly erect in front of her dressing table, dusting her face lightly with prepared chalk. She did not look happy. Presently she got up and went into Betty's room.

Betty was sitting by a window reading a magazine, looked up and smiled, but there was no answering smile from her aunt.

"I see you're ready, dear," said Aunt Minniebelle. "You look very sweet in that brown dress. We might as well go down and sit with your uncle while we wait. I don't like to leave him alone too much—poor dear. Besides, the committee ladies will be coming very soon now and I'm sure he'll want to re-hear his speech of acceptance once more."

Betty started to get up, but when she saw that her aunt had seated herself on the bed, she sat down again. Evidently Aunt Minniebelle had something on her mind and wanted to talk. Aunt Minniebelle did. She hesitated a minute; then she said in a voice that was notable for its lack of poise:

"I don't know what's come over your uncle, Bettina. He's changed a lot lately. It's—er—sort of embarrassing. All of a sudden he wants to be a—er—big shot, as you young people say."

Betty could not keep from smiling, but she said seriously enough, "I thought it was you that wanted him to be a big shot. You were the one that wanted him to be mayor. Even when I first came here you were suggesting it. Remember?"

Dr. Long Will Attend Colorado Polio Meeting

Dr. Fred Long, Lincoln-Lancaster county health department director, will represent the Lancaster county chapter of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis at a special poliomyelitis course at the University of Colorado medical school March 14-19.

The selection of Dr. Long as Lancaster county's representative was given final approval at a meeting of the executive board of the Lancaster county polo chapter.

The board also heard committee reports on the progress of Lancaster county polo patients. Dr. Kenneth Holland, chairman, presided.

Meanwhile Minniebelle sat rigidly erect in front of her dressing table, dusting her face lightly with prepared chalk. She did not look happy. Presently she got up and went into Betty's room.

Gratifying Year

Surely the annual meeting of the trustees of the University of Nebraska Foundation, revealing as it did that the Foundation's assets now total $721,725, was a cause of great satisfaction. The officers and trustees of the Foundation, starting only a few years ago, can look back over the last 12 months and say that this was the best year ever.

Gifts to the Foundation in 1948 totaled $267,209 compared to $156,137, an increase of over 100 thousand dollars. Benefits distributed by the Foundation to the university and to students enrolled in the university aggregated $118,615, a new record.

In five years Secretary Perry Branch told his associates the assets of the University of Nebraska Foundation have increased more than a half a million dollars. That in the main reflects relatively small gifts.

The remarkable progress made in such a few years suggests that the opportunities which the Foundation offers are unlimited in contributing to the development of the University of Nebraska. It needs and deserves continuing support.

Vandenberg's Retirement

There was the virtue in Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg's announcement of his decision to retire from public life in 1952 which makes the regret it inspires none the less sharp. Senator Vandenberg's contributions to American foreign policy in recent years cannot be computed. He held his party in line. Even more, until the time of his retirement the step that he has taken makes it possible for him to exercise a greater degree of independence. That may be back of the decision. These months ahead in foreign policy may prove to be even more difficult than the post-war period when Senator Vandenberg played such a heroic role in the affairs of his own party.

Why Window Dressing?

More than the fate of a devoutly religious man, or any religious denomination, is involved in an effective world-wide protest against the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary. Freedom and religion are involved.

If over any considerable portion of the entire world the travesty of Budapest can be substituted for a genuine trial in democratic conceptions, then individual freedom is in greater danger than at any time in modern history.

The Des Moines Register projected it so excellently:

"The trial procedure (at Budapest) is just window dressing. His conviction was as certain as if a Mongol tyrant had, at a whim, ordered him thrown into a dungeon. Why all this window dressing then? Ah, that is the fascinating thing: It is the revelation that despite their unscrupulous despotism the communist leaders feel compelled to make this gesture of respecting democratic principles. This is the thing that gives the lie to communist cries that democracy is 'decadent.' This is the thing that betrays the weakness and the sense of insecurity among avowed dictators in a land where people have tasted a little of freedom or at least comprehend vaguely what it means. They do not dare utterly to repudiate democratic institutions. They do not dare to reveal the grossness of their despotism in its naked reality. . . . The seed of respect for human decency

MISSOURI BASIN DEVELOPMENT

If frank discussion is healthy, and it is, then contemplated Missouri basin development, of such infinite importance to the people of the valley, is on a sound foundation. There may be the error of drawing imaginary lines between names — distinctions between the Pick-Sloan plan and an MVA, for example, distinctions which exist only in people's minds and have no actual existence.

When we talk of harnessing the unruly Missouri, curbing its destructive floods, storing its waste waters, expanding irrigation in semi-arid regions which are fertile yet lacking in dependable moisture, providing navigation where feasible, and finally generating for public use vast amounts of cheap electricity, we are talking about a TVA adapted to the climate, the soil, and the needs of a great river valley, whether we call it TVA, MVA, or the Pick-Sloan plan. Names mean so little. Results count for so much. Now if the Pick-Sloan plan upon which so much preliminary work has been done already leads actually to high dams, storing immense amounts of water, eliminating seasonal floods, regulating the flow of the streams, providing irrigation for hundreds of thousands of acres of productive soil, water navigation, and furnishing for industry, for farms and for cities huge amounts of electricity generated through hydro-electric developments, then it is the height of folly too fight a sham battle over what a vast program shall be called.

What we will be doing is to waste our strength and bleed ourselves over inconsequentialities. All this comes back again to public attention as a result of the discussions at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Reclamation association.

It's just a little bit difficult to understand what was in the mind of Harry E. Polk, the president of the National Reclamation Association, when he told the Nebraska organization that the establishment of an MVA would be another step in the socialization of our government. Where does Mr. Polk think the money for this work is coming from, if not from Uncle Sam? If it comes from Uncle Sam, and there is no other place from which it will come, isn't that the socialization of government, and if it is the socialization of government then what about it? Is it Mr. Polk's idea that the American people should spend hundreds of millions to develop the Missouri basin against floods, for irrigation, and to generate cheap electricity only to turn that electricity over to private utilities to be retailed by them or distributed to the consumer by them at a profit? In other words, is all of this to be undertaken when one of the chief benefits to be realized is to be capitalized upon by the private utilities and sold back to the people who paid for it in the beginning to enhance the profits of the private utilities?

Of course Mr. Polk says nothing about this. He speaks in general terms about the socialization of government. If the people of the Missouri basin are to reap the full benefits of river development, if they are to get the full returns from the investment which their government makes, then they are going to have in substance a TVA which they may prefer to call a Pick-Sloan plan or any name; it is immaterial what they call it, but any program projecting all the multiple purposes of river development, and actually fulfilling those purposes is a TVA in substance whether it is called by that name or not.

The policy for the conservation of natural resources will be established by congress, and Missouri basin development in the end will fit itself into that pattern. Otherwise there will be no development.

SALARY RAISES

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Here we are in a seasonal lull and already we have wage cuts plus growing unemployment. Yet on top of this our state officials all vote themselves a nice raise of at least $2,000 a year; that's as much as a lot of working men make in a year. These officials knew the salary of the office they were elected to, so why are they complaining now?

ABE.

TO GET ELECTED

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: What most of our state and county officers want is a salary raise. Why do men spend a substantial part of the salary to get elected to office? They all know what their salaries would be before they were elected. The taxpayers are getting tired of this raising of salaries every time the legislature meets. Our present obligations are hard enough to meet without raising state and county burdens.

TAXPAYER.

LICENSE FEES

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I wonder if very many hunters are aware of that some of the more wealthy sportsmen of this section of the state are trying to shove down the legislature's throat. This resolution is proposing a fee of $20 for a permit to hunt and fish. I believe that if everyone interested would write to the press of Latin America, it was necessary to dramatize it; do something spectacular — such as picketing the Argentine embassy.

Incidentally, here was something Mrs. P. doesn't know about — yet. I also had one of my assistants inside the Argentine embassy during the Vaughan period. And he checked on admirers of Gen. Harry Vaughan, the president's military aide, when he received his medal from Dictator Peron.

She said it was undignified, that I made a spectacle of myself and that I should save my energy for more important things.

Probably she is right. She usually is. Of course, Mrs. P. has always wanted me to be a pundit like Walter Lippmann, even through his ceremony in honor of Mr. Truman's military aide.

It was no accident that Peron gave that medal. He knew that its acceptance would be interpreted throughout Latin America as meaning Truman himself had given his blessing to the ceremony. He knew that it would strengthen his hand immeasurably — strengthen it to continue undercutting the United States.

That's why I took the trouble to give some publicity to the fact that there were a few people in this country who objected strenuously to having the White House linked with Dictator Peron. And in order to publicize this objection in the press of Latin America, it was necessary to dramatize it; do something spectacular — such as picketing the Argentine embassy.

"Very few dignitaries present. Your vigil at the door must have scared them away. Only senators were Melville Broughton of North Carolina and Dennis Chavez of New Mexico. (The latter got a free trip to Argentina at Peron's expense.) Gen. Wallace Graham, Truman's doctor who got caught speculating, was there, but Mrs. Kenneth Royal, who an Argentine aide told me, had promised to come, backed out.

"You may describe his medal," General Vaughan told a reporter, "as bestowed by special dispensation from Drew."

"I stood in a group surrounding Vaughan and listened to him rail about you. Then there were some introductions and I introduced myself. Mrs. Vaughan, eyeing me suspiciously, asked:

"Don't you work for Drew Pearson?"

"I said I did, and Vaughan looked sheepish. He stalked off, leaving me to talk to his admiring fans who had been agreeing with everything he said about you. They immediately changed their tune and started complimenting you."

Furthermore, I did feel foolish standing out in front of the Argentine embassy. The funny thing was that I have probably spent more hours and days inside that same embassy than anyone else in Washington, DC. But they kept things on a clean, aboveboard level. There was no unreasonable military force waving a sword in the background; there was no censorship of the press; or firing of the Supreme court, or revolutionary intrigues in neighboring countries.

Note — General Vaughan's Argentine decoration must be approved by the Senate if he is to keep it. It will be interesting to see what senators vote against it. Senator Ed Johnson of Colorado, democrat, is the only one who has raised an eyebrow so far.

That was back in the days when I was writing for La Nacion of Buenos Aires and when Argentina, then a democracy, was trying to strengthen its ties with the United States.

We had some distinguished Argentine ambassadors in those days, including Felipe Espil and Honorio Puyerredon. They frequently argued with the United States. They vigorously opposed our high protective tariff, especially our restrictions on meat and alfalfa. But they kept things on a clean, aboveboard level.

There was no unreasonable military force waving a sword in the background; there was no censorship of the press; or firing of the Supreme court, or revolutionary intrigues in neighboring countries.

Puyerredon is dead now, after having led about the last democratic fight in Argentina, while Ambassador Espil married an American and was considered so pro-American that he had to retire.

The Argentine people are among the most charming and gracious to be found any place, and the members of the Argentine embassy staff today — even under Peron — are equally so.

However, that is not the point. The point is that Argentina has become the most undemocratic nation in the western hemisphere, and its influence — which is considerable — is anti-American.

In other words, while President Peron is wooing Mr. Truman's military aide with a high decoration, he is simultaneously trying to undermine all the things the United States stands for in Pan-Americanism.

Mr. Truman, for instance, has been a great champion of civil rights. He does not go in for the indiscriminate arrest of his political critics. He has also made a great many speeches championing the democratic freedoms, and has spent many billions of the taxpayers' money trying to bolster the discouraged democracies of Europe.

Yet simultaneously a whole row of democracies have fallen before military dictatorships in our own Pan-American show window. And when the military dictatorships have knocked out the democracies, it is almost always because they have been inspired or secretly encouraged by Peron — the man who now makes it appear that he and the White House are as one in substance whether it is called by that name or not.

WASHINGTON — So many of republican policy committee doctors are gathered about the republican beside that even if physical health should return, the pale, wan patient seems likely to develop an invalid's psychology. They all agree, these doctors, in their general diagnosis,

What Gov. Thomas E. Dewey offered the polite assemblage of diners in the Mayflower was merely confirmation of what has been obvious for a long time. The sick party has a split personality; torn between a loving past and a future that many in the party see as bleak and unremittingly hostile.

It was somewhat surprising to find Governor Dewey in his often-candid speech reverting to the old device of beating the administration for failure in China. This was at the moment in history when the Chinese communist armies were riding into Peking on motorized equipment from the U.S.A. and with arms from the U.S.A. that they had taken with scarcely a struggle from the demoralized army of Chiang Kai-shek.

Governor Dewey offered no press conference for China, although you gathered that he might have favored greater and continuing aid. That was true on the

Pitched Battle Ends With 20 Injuries; Two UAW Officials Arrested

EAST MOLINE, Ill.—(AP)—About 20 persons were injured, including two top officials of the CIO United Auto Workers, in a 20-minute pitched battle yesterday between some 300 members of two rival CIO unions.

Both officials were arrested after the bloody brawl at the gates of the East Moline works of the International Harvester Co. On one side were some 70 UAW organizers. They were opposed by more than 200 workers at the plant, members of the United Farm Equipment Workers union.

Thirteen of the injured received treatment at a hospital for bloody and broken noses, cuts, broken arms, bashed heads and cracked ribs. Only one was a plant worker. The UAW unionists injured included John W. Livingston of Detroit, UAW vice president and director of the union's agricultural implement department, and Pat Greathouse of Chicago, UAW regional director.

8 Dead As Home Burns .. Mother, 7 Children Die

Bill On Mental Patients Is Reported Out

No Action On State Dental Health Division

CLAYTON, N. Y.—(AP)—A housewife and seven of her eight children burned to death early today when fire destroyed their home near here.

Mrs. Clifford Conant, 29, and the seven children, ranging in age from 1 to 11, were trapped in a one-story frame dwelling, two miles south of here.

The husband, Clifford, 39, and a daughter, Susan, 13, escaped.

Firemen said they believed a defective oil heater caused the fire.

No Action On LB 96.

No action was taken by the committee on LB 96, providing for the creation of a division of dental health in the state department of health. Under the present set-up, the dental division is under the division of maternal and child health, also under the department of health.

The committee killed LB 179, seeking to repeal chapter 43, article four of the revised statutes, relating to mothers' pensions.

The revenue committee Thursday reported out to general file LB 308, as amended. The bill provides exemptions from inheritance tax for certain classes or organizations and bequests, organized and operating exclusively for religious, charitable, public, scientific or educational purposes.

Would Tax Improvements.

Also reported out was LB 342, providing for the listing for taxation of improvements that have not been assessed or have escaped taxation in former years. The law at present includes only land and does not consider improvements on the land.

Held over by the committee was LB 328, pending action on LB 101, which has nearly the same provisions. The bills provide for patrolman examiners to issue a learner's permit to any person over 15½ learning to drive an automobile and provide that the person may operate a motor vehicle under the permit if accompanied by a licensed operator who is occupying the seat beside the driver.

LB 341, providing additional procedure for the taxation of flight equipment of air transportation carriers, was held over for further study by the committee.

Insistent Auto Horn Saves Unconscious Man From Burning To Death

HUNTSVILLE, Ont.—(AP)—Harold Meredith was saved from burning to death by his automobile horn yesterday. His car skidded on an icy pavement, turned over four times and burst into flames. Meredith was knocked unconscious but the horn jammed and aroused him in time to escape.

Non-Communist Oath Protested ... At Oklahoma U.

NORMAN, Okla.—(AP)—The University of Oklahoma, from freshman to president, protested today against a college "non-communist" oath proposed in the state legislature.

The oath would be required from both students and faculty under a bill passed by the house of representatives and now under consideration by the state senate.

Nine campus organizations, several professors, and 1,500 of the 12,000 students signed a petition yesterday asking the senate to throw out the measure.

Dr. George L. Cross, university president, also spoke against the bill.

Chamber Favors Equal Freight Rate Legislation

The Lincoln chamber of commerce has gone on record favoring the enactment of legislation which would preserve the general practice of "delivered pricing" through equalization of freight rates now followed by most manufacturers, according to Peter Gilbertson, chamber traffic manager.

The policy was recommended by the chamber's shippers committee and approved by the board of directors. This action came in connection with a referendum being conducted by the U. S. chamber on the subject.

The national chamber is conducting its poll because of a recent Supreme court decision in the "Cement Case" making it illegal for cement manufacturers in various localities to maintain a uniform price for their product by absorbing the shipping costs into the delivered price.

Policy proposed by the U. S. chamber says that "it is in the public interest that a seller in one locality should be free to compete with sellers elsewhere, despite different delivery costs, by being permitted to absorb or equalize transportation costs. However, any legislation enacted to such ends should be designed so as to preserve the fundamental safeguards of the Anti-trust laws."

Capehart Conducts Survey.

Gilbertson said that Sen. Homer Capehart of Indiana and a special Senate committee conducted a nation-wide survey on this subject last fall after the Supreme court ruling and found overwhelming sentiment from all parts of the country for preservation of the "delivered pricing" system.

"Most of those taking part in the Capehart survey felt that to follow the policy of the Supreme court in the "Cement Case" would mean upsetting one of the fundamentals on which our economy has been developed," Gilbertson said.

Reclamation Group Favors Pick-Sloan

BASIN DEVELOPMENT PLAN SUPPORTED IN FORMAL RESOLUTION

The Pick-Sloan plan of developing the Missouri Valley basin had the full support of the Nebraska Reclamation association Friday.

The endorsement with only one member dissenting came in a resolution adopted by the association near the close of the first day session of the group's annual meeting at the Cornhusker hotel.

Peterson on National Board.

Members who elected six district and two congressional directors named C. Petrus Peterson, former state senator and Lincoln attorney, as the state director to sit on the National Reclamation association's board.

The association reaffirmed its endorsement of public power development as a corollary of irrigation. The group urged the installation of power plants in connection with every project where the responsibility of:

(1) Studying the plans presented by the Bureau of Reclamation for development of the lower Platte basin.

(2) Study the effect of the proposed development on our present agencies engaged in irrigation and in the generation and distribution of electric energy and their part in the contemplated development.

(3) To study possibilities of integration between the use of water from streams and ground water.

(4) Recommend laws needed.

Only on one resolution did there appear to be a sharp split among association members.

Reject Acreage Limitation.

That showed up in the vote on what stand the association should take on the 160-acre limitation which the government has now on the amount of land which any one individual may put under water from government financed projects.

A motion to have the group favor a policy of limitation of acreage to individual farmers on family sized farms lost by a close vote.

A second provision of the resolution, which also went down to defeat, would have placed the association in opposition to the application of water from government financed projects to large tracts of land under centralized ownership, farmed by tenants under corporate management.

Managing Agency Studied.

The defeat of the motion left the association without a definite stand either for or against the 160-acre limitation.

A second resolution that was adopted, but caused some debate because of misundstanding rather than dissension, centered around what type of agency should be set up to manage the projects when finally completed under the Pick-Sloan plan.

The resolution adopted by the association called for management of projects, such as power dams, etc., by home rule and in cases where more than one state is involved by compacts between states.

Home Rule Concept.

The resolution, which was proposed by Val Kuska, Omaha, was

General Pick Confirmed For Engineer Post

... By U. S. Senate

WASHINGTON — (AP)— The senate has confirmed Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick as chief of army engineers.

It took that action yesterday, confirming President Truman's appointment of General Pick to succeed Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, who is retiring at the end of this month.

Nebraskans have known General Pick as the co-author of the Pick-Sloan plan and Missouri river division engineer with headquarters in Omaha.

Recently, at the request of Gov. Val Peterson and others, he took over the job of directing blizzard-busting activities in Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Battling cussedness of nature is nothing new to the 58-year-old Virginian, however. He earned a reputation with bulldozers building a wartime supply route into southern China.

"Pick's Pike" is what the G.I.'s called the road he slung over dizzy Burmese chasms and sent snaking around endless rows of mountains. Its official name was the Ledo road.

Born in Brookneal, Va., Pick took part in the Meuse-Argonne offensive in World War I as a young reserve officer.

Joined Regulars In '20.

He joined the regulars in 1920 and was promptly made a captain. He served in the Philippines for two years, came back to the U.S. and attended the Fort Humphreys, Va., engineer school. After teaching military science and tactics at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, he was sent to New Orleans as military assistant to the district engineer. He became acting engineer and, later, district engineer.

In 1939 after teaching and studying at the school he became assistant to the division engineer of the Ohio river division.

Ohio river division, the Missouri river, with headquarters at Omaha, "set off to the India-Burma theater of operations and build and run the Ledo road."

After the war, he came back to his old Missouri division where he was named last month by President Truman to succeed 63-year-old Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler.

Security Drive Said Danger To Liberties

Middle Ground Can Be Found, Says Vogt

The universal drive for security is an outgrowth of the age-old industrial revolution.

This statement was made by Philip H. Vogt, Douglas county welfare administrator, in a luncheon address at the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Lincoln Community Chest.

"During the depression years we developed an obsession to protect ourselves from the results of the impact of the industrial revolution."

Balance Is Possible.

Vogt explained that society now goes to extremes in seeking this security, thus endangering much of its personal liberties.

"Can we find a balance between individual freedom and a mature society's desire for security?" Vogt asked.

He answered his own question by stating that it would be difficult but possible.

Warns of Demagogues.

"I have the faith in the common sense of the average American and our political system to believe that such a middle ground can be found."

He warned that any social security program will be threatened by the political exploitation of the "demagogues." He described a demagogue as a would-be statesman primarily interested in the welfare of a special group.

He listed as a hazard to society's welfare what he described as the increased authority being given to federal bureaucracies.

Counties May Use Own Road Specifications

... 2 Highway Bills Advanced To General File

County commissioners are given the "green light" to construct highways to their own specifications, aided in whole or in part with federal funds, under the terms of LB 138 advanced to general file Thursday by the legislative committee on public works.

Where no state funds are involved or the road is not a part of the state highway system, maintenance will become a county responsibility rather than a state function. Under the present law, if federal funds are used in construction, the state is required to take over maintenance.

Because of this requirement, the state highway department has insisted on construction standards which they say experience has taught are the minimum at which maintenance can be economically carried out.

At hearings conducted over the past year by the Legislative Council committee studying highway needs, witnesses have both opposed and defended this contention of the department. The present bill makes it optional with the counties which construction plan they choose to follow.

Only Time Will Tell

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating," one member of the committee remarked. "Advocates of low cost roads now have their opportunity to follow that course. Only time will tell whether they will adopt the plan they advocated. They get half of the road money and this will permit them to spend their share as they see fit."

"For counties that believe with the state engineers that the higher standards are the most economical, they can use state funds and the state will then take over the maintenance."

Speaking in behalf of the measure which was introduced by Sens. Carmody and Hoyt of the Council, were John Ainaly of the Nebraska Petroleum Industry, H. G. Greenamyer of the Better Nebraska association and the introducers.

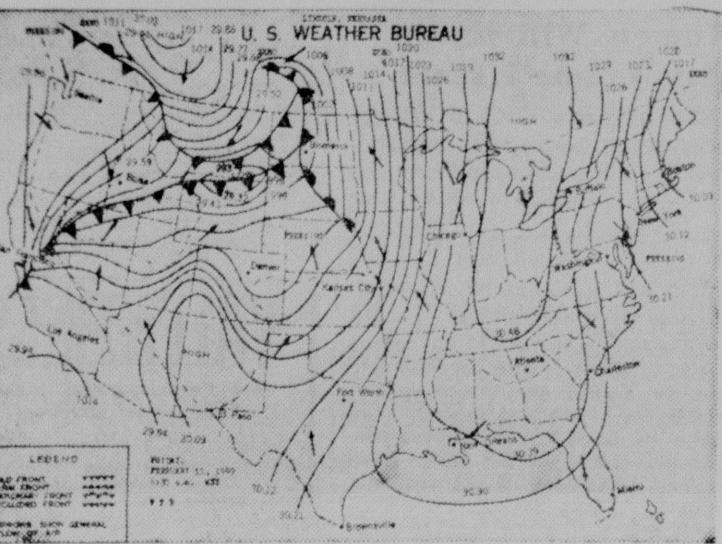

Opposing the bill, until it was amended to protect projects they have in the planning stage, were Oscar A. Jackson, clerk of Keya Paha county and J. Q. Archer of Ewing. Both insisted that they wanted the higher standard state built roads with state maintenance. Jackson said that his country had voted bonds with this understanding.

Better State Maintenance Expected.

State Engineer Fred Klietsch, called by the committee for questioning, said the people expect better service from the state in maintaining roads than they do from the counties. He explained that to give this service highways had to be built to give such undersanding.

Four bulldozers were put in operation yesterday on the Albion line between Bradish and Newman Grove. Even one of those powerful outfitts became stalled in a snow drift. Some of the drifts are 20 feet deep. Old timers in that vicinity told North Western workmen they had never before seen such deep drifts in the locality.

Attendance At City Schools Nears 94 Pct.

Although average daily attendance in Lincoln public schools is 10 per cent above the national average of 84 per cent, it is still short of the planned goal of 98 per cent.

Attendance in the Lincoln schools has crept upward from a 92 per cent average in 1944-45 to a present 93.9 per cent, according to a report released by Miss Zora Tennant, director of the school attendance service of the Lincoln schools. The latest national figure was 84 per cent for 1943-44.

Case-Work Approach.

Lincoln's attendance figure has been consistently above that mark notwithstanding the inroads on attendance during the war years. The program effected by the schools includes as its largest factor the case-work approach, with the following basic service:

1. Enforcing compulsory school attendance and child labor laws; investigation of absences and truants, new admissions, removals, and dismissals.

2. Developing a preventive child welfare service.

3. Serving the schools through visitations and conferences with the home, school, and other agencies.

4. Investigating violations of laws in matters in which the schools are concerned.

Attending Juvenile court to aid in solving the child's problem. (There have been only 14 cases of this type since 1948.)

To Determine Real Causes.

The service plans to reach its goal of 98 per cent attendance by encouraging interest among students in the school program; by broad expansion of counseling and guidance services; by reorganizing curricula to meet needs of more students; by determining real causes of drop-outs and encouraging youth who have left school to attend night classes; and by enlisting support of all agencies concerned with youth and making available every possible resource to effect social adjustment.

Cease And Desist Order Issued Against Company

The bureau of securities in the state department of banking issued a cease and desist order against future solicitations and offerings of the sale of securities in the state by Sterling Securities, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

In the order the bureau said it had been found that Sterling Securities had solicited the sale of securities upon numerous occasions by means of the mails in the state and that the company had not been registered as a securities broker in Nebraska.

The order also stated that the securities are not registered for sale in the state and that the solicitations appear to be in violation of the Blue Sky law of the state.

The order was signed by Harold Johnson, assistant director of the department of banking.

Banking Bills Are Laid Over

... For Amendments

Two bankers' bills—one permitting banks to destroy records after 11 years, the other extending the time in which a bank may dishonor a check—were laid over for amendments by the banking committee of the legislature.

Both measures, LB 68 and 69, were introduced by Sen. Victor Anderson of Lincoln, who told the committee they were needed by bankers in the state. There was no opposition to either.

Chauncey E. Barney, Lincoln attorney representing the Nebraska Bankers' association, said LB 68 would let banks eliminate the voluminous storage of records. No law, he said, now states whether or not records may be destroyed.

He received permission to draft an amendment permitting the records to be destroyed after six years, instead of the 11 written in the bill. Another proposed amendment would require banks to keep their corporate records.

'HAMLET' IS IN LEAD FOR '48 'OSCARS'

... 'Johnny Belinda' Next

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — A guy named William Shakespeare holds the inside track for the 1948 academy awards. But a dark horse—"Johnny Belinda"—bears watching.

Shakespeare's "Hamlet" won seven nominations in the list announced last night—with Sir Laurence Olivier getting a nod for both acting and directing.

However, "Belinda," perhaps Hollywood's best bet to thwart Britain's strongest bid for honors, racked up no less than 12 citations.

The hopefuls in the major races: Best performance by an actress—Ingrid Bergman, "Joan of Arc"; Olivia de Havilland, "The Snake Pit"; Irene Dunne, "Rear Window"; Barbara Stanwyck, "Sorry, Wrong Number"; and Jane Wyman, "Johnny Belinda"; and最佳女配角—John Wayne, "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance"; Lew Ayres, "Johnny Belinda"; Montgomery Clift, "The Search"; Dan Dailey, "When My Baby Smiles At Me"; Laurence Olivier, "Hamlet"; and Clifton Webb, "Sittin' Pretty."

Best motion picture—"Hamlet," "Johnny Belinda," "The Red Shoes," "The Snake Pit," and "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre."

And failure to attend class was called "sluffing."

In 1948 the company of an undesirable student is dismissed with "drop dead!" The male social lions are known as "casanovas." Romance in the moonlight is called "necking." A "flunk" is still a "flunk," but sluffing is known as "cutting."

Links Entertain Iowans

RED AND BLACK TEAM CAN CLAIM LOOP HONORS WITH WIN OVER ABE LYNX

BY GEORGE MILLER
(Star Sports Staff Member)

Schedule makers had an eye to the calendar when they matched undefeated Lincoln High and Abraham Lincoln of Council Bluffs for a Friday night game at Whittier junior high at 8.

The Links and the visiting Iowans will be battling in a Missouri Valley contest on the eve of Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

Whether this historical occasion will inspire Honest Abe's Iowa namesakes to upset the high riding Lincoln high club is open to question. But past performances seem to indicate the local club as probable winner.

Lincoln has a chance to wrap up the Missouri Valley crown for the third consecutive year with a win over the visitors.

Coach Lyle Weyand's club has six victories in league play to rank as the only unbeaten team in the circuit. The Links disposed of their most feared rival Monday when they edged Sioux City Central 38-37 in an overtime.

CLEARED TOP SPOT.

By so doing, the Red and Black cleared the territory at the top of the standings. The Soos had been unbeaten before running into the Lincoln veterans.

Abraham Lincoln can point to three league wins but must confess to four defeats against conference opponents. Sioux City East has been a victim twice and Omaha Central once.

Omaha Tech and Sioux City Central have each trimmed the Council Bluffs team twice. The Tech squad won 28-24 and 57-48. Sioux City Central triumphed 42-37 and 46-45.

Lincoln beat Tech 39-35 and Sioux City Central by the aforementioned 38-37 score.

REVENGE MOTIVE.

There is an element of revenge which must be considered. Abe Lynx players upset Lincoln with a sound 50-36 win last year. The LHS club was able to rally in later games to annex the Mo Valley title.

Chick Battie will be back in the starting lineup for the Links. Center Phil Hall has been named as game captain.

The Lincoln reserves meet the Abraham Lincoln second team at 6:30 in a preliminary game.

First team starters:

Mills Wins Checker Meet

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—(AP)—It's probably no surprise to anyone to know that fireman has won the state checker tournament, particularly one who has taken the state crown five times before.

Lloyd Mills, 29, Lincoln fireman, defeated Elida Stockman, Grand Island, in the finals of the state meet Thursday. In the first ten games, each won one and eight were draws. Mills took two extra games needed for the title.

The 1949 title is Mills' sixth, but wartime service broke the string.

This was his third consecutive championship since the war.

Abraham Lincoln can point to three league wins but must confess to four defeats against conference opponents. Sioux City East has been a victim twice and Omaha Central once.

Friday night the Plainsmen will travel to Fremont for a second encounter with the Warriors. Midland lost the first as a direct result of Bob Kettlers tireless defensive work.

The Methodist guard shadowed George Gribble so closely the dead eye basket maker was of virtually no assistance to his team. Currently, Gribble is second in N.C.C. individual scoring.

Saturday night's game is at the Wesleyan campus with Doane college as guest. The Tigers tripped up Irv Peterson's crew, 43-37 in Wesleyan's initial tilt this season.

Since then the Plainsmen have shown progressive improvement to contrast with Doane's degeneration to last place in N.C.C. ratings.

Wesleyan's current four game winning streak has hoisted them to the first division with a 4-4 record. One of the triumphs was on the non-conference slate, but significant just the same as an example of better play.

After taking an early season drubbing from Omaha university the Methodists rebound to defeat the Indians, 51-47, last week.

Midland has been without the services of Dick Paulson since January. The play making guard injured his ankle, preventable starting lineups:

NU Swimmers Will Be Busy

The University of Nebraska swimming team will meet the University of Oklahoma Saturday and the University of Minnesota on Monday.

The Oklahoma-Nebraska meet will start at 4 p.m. The Minnesota-Nebraska meet starts at 1:30.

Oklahoma finished third behind Nebraska in the Big Seven championships a year ago.

Nebraska has won four out of five dual meets thus far, losing only to the defending champion, Iowa State.

Coach Hollie Lepley said the same Cornhuskers who have been competing in the earlier meets will carry the load against the Soons and Minnesotas.

Oklahoma beat Nebraska 49-5 in a dual meet last year, but finished third behind Iowa State and Nebraska in the conference meet.

Dana, Peru Face Tests . . . In State Play

RESULTS THURSDAY NIGHT.

Luther, 43; Millard Trade School, 42; (Overtime).

GAMES FRIDAY NIGHT.

* Chadron at Wayne; York at Doane; Peru at Kearney; Norfolk, C. at Concordia; Scottsbluff, 33; University of Wyoming, N. W. Center; Wesleyan at Midland; Fort Hays, Kas., "B" at McCook J. C.; Dana at Fairbury J. C.

The boys to beat in Nebraska College basketball—the basket hawks from Peru and Dana will both defend their records Friday night.

Dana's record, spic and span without so much as a loss this season, isn't in too much danger on the basis of past performances.

When the team met Fairbury earlier this month, Dana won a 69 to 47 victory. The match is in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic association which Dana is leading.

In the Nebraska College conference, Peru, riding in the driver's seat for the second consecutive year, will be trying for win No. 11 in NCC play. So far the Bobcats haven't dropped a league game.

Other NCC games will see Chadron at Wayne, York at Doane and Wesleyan at Midland.

Another NIAA contest is Norfolk Junior college at Concordia.

In non-conference games, Scottsbluff will go to the University of Wyoming (west center). McCook Junior college will stand at home to take on the "B" team of Fort Hays, Kas.

Thursday night, Luther and Millard Trade School played to a 37-37 deadlock at the end of the regular playing time. After that, Luther pushed to a 43-42 decision.

Senate Hearing— LABOR BATTLE LULLS

Committee War Of Words Seemingly Has Changed No Minds

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senators battling over a new labor law started three-day truce today with 10 days of wordy hearings behind them and—so far as can be observed—nobody's mind changed.

On Monday the senate labor committee starts the second half of its hearings on the Truman administration's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and substitute a law based on the original Wagner act.

The committee still is expected to approve the administration bill, which is sponsored by Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah). There are eight democrats in the group and only five republicans.

But what happens to the bill when it reaches the senate floor for debate—probably sometime in March—is anybody's guess. What the house of representatives will do is another question mark.

Latest developments include these:

Communists Denounced.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a member of the senate committee, and the CIO both denounced the communist party for having the "effrontery" to send a statement to the committee opposing the Taft-Hartley act.

Humphrey, in an interview, and CIO Secretary James B. Carey, in a statement, both said the communists really want to keep the law. The committee meantime, threw the communist statement in the waste basket and refused to put it in the record of the hearings.

Woodruff Randolph, president of the AFL International Typographical union, finished his testimony last night with a vigorous attack on the Taft-Hartley law on the closed shop.

Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) joined him, saying this provision has been productive of "much subterfuge and bootlegging in labor relations." He said a great many employers in the publishing and printing trades have continued "what amounts in practice to closed shop conditions."

(In a closed shop, the employer agrees to hire only union members and fire anybody who loses his membership.)

Denham Denies Bias.

At that, Chairman Thomas chimed in with: "When congress passes a law which is an open-in-

GRAIN CLOSE IRREGULAR ... N. Y. Stocks Shaky

CHICAGO—(INS)—Grain and oilseed futures rallied in today's late dealings to close irregular after prices skidded sharply earlier.

At the close wheat was 14 cent higher for May and 1 to 2 cents lower for other futures; corn 3¢ cent down to 34 cents up; oats 3¢ cent lower to 11¢ cents higher; rye 1 cent up and soybeans 3¢ cent higher to 34 cents lower.

Motors And Steels Firm.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Stocks continued shaky today, although the decline was only of moderate proportions compared with yesterday's 1-to-3 point drop.

On volume again totaling less than 1,000,000 shares, many leaders dropped fractions. Motors and steels showed individual firmness.

vitation to so many people to break that law, we do something that inevitably ends in bad government."

Most of the republican members of the committee were at Lincoln day dinners.

Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the national labor relations board, testified 11 hours during the last four days and will be called again next week.

Sent Neely (D-WVa) yesterday called Denham a "biased and prejudiced" man who ought to be fired. When Denham took the witness chair last night, he said, without mentioning Neely, that he has always "tried to remain away from partisanship and prejudice," and thinks he has succeeded.

Denham had testified earlier that the Taft-Hartley law is "basically sound" though "not perfect."

Randolph and Taft Mix.

Sen. Taft (R-Ore.) charged yesterday that the effect of the closed shop and the ITU rules is to "give you the power to keep people out of the printing trades if you want to. There are enough men in the industry."

Randolph answered: "I don't think so. Employers don't take advantage of the closed shop. They are maximum conditions of the ITU allows. They don't like to have journeymen spend their time training apprentices."

Taft cited an "appalling shortage" of printers in Pennsylvania. He read an article from Editor and Publisher trade papers and saw Pennsylvania paper buyers and publishers wanted nearly 300 more printers.

Denham's chief retorted that "they simply want enough workers to eliminate us." He then said: "We will not attempt to supply enough to meet the demand. That is the reason we always supplied enough men to meet the industry's needs."

Those present will attend two Sunday morning meets. At 9:30 they will gather for Bible study and discussion. And at 11, Dr. Lloyd Rising will deliver the worship sermon in the sanctuary at First Methodist church.

The clinic is sponsored by the Commission on Christian vocations of the Nebraska annual conference of the Methodist church. Rev. Ray F. Magnuson is secretary of the commission.

Two colored pictures, believed to be the only official photographs in existence, of U. S. ships named "U.S.S. Nebraska" were presented to Gov. Val Peterson for the people of the state Thursday by Sen. Hugh Butler.

The pictures will be turned over to the State Historical Society for display, the governor said.
